About Me

I am an experienced college student with excellent communication skills, and I am interested in Contributing to product design and implementation discussions as well as Finding and building unique solutions to implement projects from the idea phase to production ,Testing and iterate code before and after production release also Connecting with intern peers, new teammates, and colleagues from across the business

I am very Eager to investigate challenges and present reasonable solutions reliably and quickly Excitement to pick up a new language and be productive with it in a week looking forward to work collaboratively in a team environment
